As a Pub Employee, I want to

- See what's available as well as what's off limits in beer inventory so when I blow a keg I know what I can replace it with. To that end I need to be able to
  - Reserve a keg before I go to the brewery to pull it from inventory.
  - Change the status of a keg held in inventory in the pub from "held" to "tapped"
  - See what's been ordered and when the batch is expected to be finished.

As a Sales Team Member, I want to

- See what's in inventory so I can effectively sell to each of my accounts. To that end I need to be able to
  - See what's in inventory to be sold. I need to be able to see kegs as well as cases of cans.
  - See what's being brewed now as well as what is scheduled to be brewed and when everything is expected to be finished.
- Change the status of an item in inventory from reserved to sold or back to available.
- See a history of my sales so I can evaluate my progress toward my sales targets.

As a Brewer, I want to

- See a list of ingredients that are low in inventory so that I can order the ingredients that are needed.
